LAST Wednesday was a rainy day.

JUDGE STARK held court at Erin this week.

GEN. GRANT is to be in Louisville on the 10th inst.

Don't forget that Cole's circus will exhibit here on Saturday, the 13th. Boys, save your dimes.

CRIMINAL court adjourned last Saturday, after transacting a considerable amount of business.

SOME interesting correspondence will be found on the first and fourth pages. Read them.

THE bridge on Madison street is nearly completed—will be able to cross on it Sunday.

REV. W. FLINN will preach at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in this city, to-morrow, Sunday, at 11 o'clock a. m.

GEN. JEFF. C. DAVIS, Brevet-

Brigadier-General U. S. A., died in Chicago, of pneumonia, last Sunday evening.

THE Methodist Church was filled again last Sunday to hear the pastor, Rev. J. D. Barbee. He had a very attentive audience.

THE earnings of the Louisville &

Nashville road for October were $600,000, an increase of $14,000 over the same month last year.

HAYES stole the Presidency and somebody stole his message last Saturday and sold it to the newspapers.

Order up the Commission.

EAST Tennessee marble is to be used in the construction of the proposed monument to the memory of the late Gen. Robert E. Lee, in the city of New Orleans.

For a good winter or dress boot, call at John Rick's, on Franklin street. Mr. Rick has a splendid stock of leather and will have them made up in the very latest style.

Everybody is invited to attend

THE Kentucky Intelligencer (successor to the Bowling Green Pan-graph) has come to hand, and does not disappoint our expectations.

Its first impression on us is that of a splendid physique, paper and typography being unexceptionable.

Enquiring further into the quality of the editorials, we find them brief, terse and sound. The Grant boom finds no favor in them, and they do not despair of the republic, or, in other words, of the Democratic party. The correspondence is extensive and sprightly. J. W. F. of the Courier-Journal becomes F. W. J.

in the Intelligencer, turning a half-sarcastic and over the heads of the editorials, and does it well.

On the whole, the Intelligencer promises to exercise a salutary political influence in the State, and as the Journal hitherto relied upon for that purpose has descended from its high position as an organ of the Democratic party to become simply the organ of personal interests, now for Tilden and again for Grant, we should be glad to see the Intelligencer accepted in Kentucky as representing the political opinion of the State. We place it gladly on our exchange list.

THE Drama in New Providence.

"The Forest Rose," a very pleasing little drama, was presented in New Providence on last Tuesday evening, by the amateur players of that place, Miss Maria Crabtree, directress. The man who "never smiled again" should have been there to have witnessed the playing of "Jonathan Ploughboy;" we suppress his true name at his own request.

Mr. Clarence Gold was hard to beat.

He looked more like a negro girl than the genuine article itself. Bro.

Powers and Dr. Jackson acted very well.

On the female side of the stage—, We can't choose. All were excellent. We don't know but that, upon the whole, they surpassed the actors of the other sex. But we know the fair young ladies of the play will not be jealous if we specially mention, for excellence of acting, "Mrs. Miller," the old lady of the house, denominated in common parlance Miss Ella Higgins.

Into the play was introduced a charming song and chorus, sung with spirit and melody by the younger gentlemen and ladies of the burg, led by Miss Ora Gold.

The oyster supper that followed was well attended and liberally served. In short, the whole entertainment was a success. Everybody was satisfied, and pleased with the result. The proceeds were contributed to the benefit of the Baptist Church of New Providence.

The entertainment will be repeated on next Friday, the 12th. A great many people were misinformed as to the date of the first performance and would be glad to witness it, having received brilliant accounts of it from those who attended.

Dority, Wood, & Co.

The grocery firm of Dority, Oldham & Co., has been dissolved by the retirement of Mr. Jas. Oldham.

The new firm is now composed of the following members: W. H. Dor-ity, A. S. Wood, T. Herndon, and W. F. Titus, under the firm name of Dority, Wood & Co. All the business of the old firm will be transacted by the new firm, and the old firm is no longer in existence.

Booming.

Not Grant, but the river. The Cumberland has shaken himself out of his long sleep, stretched his limbs and now declares himself ready for business, and his clients have taken him at his word, and business it is. This, at least, is a highway which we can enjoy regardless of the rivalries or conspiracies of conflicting railway companies. We are able at present only to give a schedule of the down trips of the boats running the river, as follows:

C. W. Anderson, for Cairo, Tuesday mornings, 7 o'clock.

B. S. Rheas, for Cairo, Saturday mornings, 7 o'clock.

Celina, for Evansville, Thursday

mornings, 7 o'clock.

Gracey, for Dover, Friday, 12 m.

The Celina will run to Evansville in the Cooke's place, while the Cooke is chartered to the Evansville and Cairo Packet Company.

Photography.

McCormac is determined to keep his establishment in the front rank of his beautiful art. We have seen some specimens of his work in new forms, the panel and the promenade. The peculiarity of these is that the portrait is projected on a higher and narrower field than has been customary, so that a full-length picture, giving figure and costume complete, can be had without occupying an unreasonable space.

We have seen some of Sarnoy's best portraits in this style, and McCormac's are fully equal to them.

King Cole, of railroad celebrity, is not the only magnate of the name; his majesty W. W. Cole, King of Circus men, gives us a show here next Saturday such as is not often to be seen here. He has the wisdom, too, to know that he can do a better business at moderate prices than at the extortionate rates some of these shows have charged; at 75 cents for grown people and 5 cents for children.

THE Chronicle Bindery is now in full operation. Many of our business firms have had account books manufactured and are highly satisfied with the beautiful ruling and binding. Old collections of magazines, music, illustrated papers, etc., have also been bound up and are ornaments in houses where they are used for the purpose of an unsightly litter. Such an establishment has long been wanting in Clarksville.

At the stated meeting of the Clarksville Lodge No. 89, F. A. M., held Dec. 1, 1879, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing twelve months: S. B. Stewart,

W. M. J. C. Read, S. W.; R. D.

Read, J. W. L. Bloch, Treas.; J. B.

Reynolds, Secy.; T. H. Hyman,

S. D. P. J. Averett, J. D. W. A.

Broadhurst, Chaplain; W. G. Back-dale, Tyler.

THE Herald-Enterprise, of Russellville, has the following notice of the Elephant Warehouse:

houses and lower levels for the storage of goods, and is a
